MORE IMPORTANT to millions than politics or anything else is the statement by real scientists that Dr. Glover, a Canadian, has discovered the cause of cancer, hitherto a mystery, and has developed a cure "giving" experimentally remarkable results. Cancer is caused by a germ—that is proven—and the germ, being "isolated," a cure will follow. That is a victory for humanity greater than any ever won in any war.

A MAN of public spirit and wealth, who has financed Dr. Glover's work for years, and at great expense, has refused thus far to claim any credit. He, himself (it is said) was cured of a cancer, after he had undertaken his philanthropic work. "Bread cast upon the waters."

WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN will appear at the Democratic convention as delegate-at-large from Florida, elected by an overwhelming vote. Take that as official, although the returns are not all in. Florida welcomes strangers, and glad honours Bryan—a big and sincere American, although you may not share his views.

BRYAN WILL arrive, instructed by his adopted State for McAdoo. With his brother, Governor of the old home State, a candidate for the Democratic Presidential (not Vice-Presidential) nomination, Mr. Bryan will have no easy task. But you'll hear from him. Enemies of prohibition, honesty and copper-revolution, will realize that Bryan is still Bryan.

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE would have given better pay to post-office employees. The country can't afford it, says Coolidge. What is "the country"? Is it the men that work hard, are poor, and ask for decent pay? Is it the small group that are rich and ask for lower taxes? "Let us define our terms," as Voltaire often said.

ABOUT EVERY big event, some one supplies a witty line. Will Rogers, actor-philosopher, graduate of the Ziegfeld University, calls this Republican convention "the Coolidge Follies."

That's it. But Coolidge has 19 times run for office, and has been elected. He probably knows what he's doing this time.

IF THE PUBLIC service had used men as good as Mellon, how much would they be worth to the United States?

The Treasury, under Mellon, reports a surplus of about $400 million dollars, and the government hereafter, when borrowing money, will pay only 2 1/2 per cent. It paid 4% and more before Mellon took charge.

THE OIL investigation folds its tent and steals away. It's just dead, that's all. The people say: "Well, no wonder. They knew enough to ask a great deal," and then ask, "What next?"

THERE ARE still 12 investigations going. The most important is investigation of the aircraft scandal—about a thousand millions "spent" to use a polite word, or say flying machines produced, or only a sample or two.

NOTHING, PROBABLY, will come of that aircraft investigation. It's far more important than the oil matter. To be robbed in peace is not as important as to be beaten in war. And lack of aircraft might mean defeat.

France has a fighting air fleet ten times better than ours. France spends about 20 millions a year on aircraft; we spend 10 millions.

A country which "can't afford" to pay post office workers can afford that, it seems.

Slayer's Examination for Law School May Play Big Part in Trial

Can an insane man take the Harvard entrance examination? An examination for Harvard Law School, taken by Nathan Leopold, Jr., confessed slayer of Robert Franks of Chicago, may be the deciding factor as to whether he lives or dies.

These papers will be used in the prosecution to fight any insanity defense. The state will try to show that no insane person could have answered the questions. Leopold sent his examination paper to Harvard ten days after the murder to which he has confessed.

The papers, as yet unexamined, are in the possession of Dean Roscoe F. Johnson of Harvard Law School.

They will be marked by him and forwarded to Chicago.

THE BOSTON American reports that Nathan Leopold was required to answer a few days after the lifeless body of his victim had been cremated into a drain.

J. F. WHITING, WALTER AND JACK
Dedham carpenter and his two sons left for California last October and started back in March. They were on a tour to see the country. No word has been heard from them since a postal, saying the father was ill. It is feared he is in a hospital and that the boys have been put in a home.

Wherever in the West John F. Whiting, Dedham carpenter, and his two sons, Walter, seven, and Jack, six, have been held in their attempt to see some of the world by automobile.

Whiting is believed to be ill in a hospital. But his sister, Mrs. Mary Whiting of No. 13 Walnut street, East Dedham, and his mother, of No. 8 Trenton road, Needham, do not know the whereabouts of the father and sons.

Today Mrs. Whiting asked the aid of the Dedham police in locating Whiting and the boys. They left Dedham for California last October and started back from California in the mother from Little Chicago of San Luis Mountain, stating that Whiting had been taken ill.

His mother and sister fear he is in a hospital and that the boys have been placed in some home.

COAKLEY IN 'THE CLASS, HE WROTE

Captain Also Wrote That Air He Breathed "Must Be Contaminated"

Daniel H. Coakley was characterized by Captain Charles E. Stearns as "in the blue class" in a letter read today at the Coolidge-Corpus trial in East Cambridge Superior Court.

In another letter Stearns asserted that the air Coakley breathed "must be contaminated" and in a telegram declared Coakley ought to be murdered.

The former army captain, who was trapped in a Chamber apartment with Mrs. P. M. Pennington, known also as Phyllis Allen, referred in one letter to his wife "boasting my quarters."

These letters and telegrams—passing between Stearns and his cousin, Henry P. Fuller—were read by Coakley at the trial today in a hoarse voice. Much reading of letters has reduced his voice to almost a whisper.

"GIVE HER PUBLICITY."
In one letter from Captain Stearns to his attorney, Henry P. Fuller, Stearns wrote he was enclosing a number of letters, several from a wife to himself and one from Mrs. Pennington to himself.

"I may be able to find more letters," wrote Captain Stearns, "unless my wife has appropriated them. I personally think these letters are very characteristic of their attitudes toward me."

"I also would say, if the Mrs. wants publicity give her all she wants and then some. The more I think of it, the more vulnerable I believe her to be."

A telegram from Fuller to Stearns dated August 13, 1918, said: "Have had long talk with Stearns. Satisfied he did what is right. Wire me. Important do this. Ought to muzzle Coakley."

A letter written by Fuller to Stearns said, in part: "Stearns was asked to see by the Episcopal minister in Waltham. He went to see Mrs. Stearns and after some conversation she broke down and told him her version. When I went to see Stearns he said he would not discuss it unless you put yourself in his hands without reservation."

NOT UNLESS FORCED.
"I told him that I could tell him anything he wanted, but that as far as the lady was concerned I would not tell anything unless forced to do so. Planning that I left him and sure enough he stood up to me."

The next day he came running after me. It was a great surprise when he suggested our putting matters to rest. Stearns was Continued on Page 6, Column 1.

"Still" in Chaplin's Cellar Was Only a 'Water Softener'

Los Angeles, June 10.—Members of the district attorney's "dry" squad raided Charlie Chaplin's home in Beverly Hills and found the motion picture actor's cellar crowded with queer copper pipes and a contraption with a gas flame burning beneath it. They learned, however, that the queer boiler and the copper coils constituted a water softening device.

Beverly Hills water is too hard for domestic use, Chaplin's representatives explained.

COLORFUL SCENE IN BIG HALL

Cleveland Displays a Work of Art as Convention Gets Under Way

By GEORGE H. HOLMES, International News Service Staff Correspondent.
Convention Hall, Cleveland, June 10.—The Republican national Convention was formally put under way in Cleveland's beautiful auditorium this morning with the quiet precision of a well-oiled machine.

No fuss, no feathers, no disorder, and what noise there was, was almost lost in the magnificent great open spaces of the hall.

The pictures presented when the opening gavel fell were electrical rather than political. The hall was almost colorless-like in its vastness and beauty.

Cleveland certainly showed the best of Republicanism something new in the way of conventions. It was an artistic triumph, however, and did not die the political of the meeting might be.

GATHERING SLOWLY.
The delegates just sat and looked at the spectacular and the soft red and white lights shed down from the fifty ceiling, and remained about the absence of the familiar hooting, and red, white and blue decorations.

A single American flag of huge proportions was the only touch of color in the place. On it were draped three pictures, Lincoln, Harding and Roosevelt. That was all there was in the way of decorations.

The crowd was slow in arriving and the spectators in the balconies and on the fringes of the floor were slower than the delegates. Half an hour before the gavel was due to fall, there were only a handful of people in the galleries and the first delegates began to appear on the floor.

There was two minutes past 11 o'clock when John T. Adams, gray-haired and with a cane, stepped onto the platform and banged a new gavel. Immediately a band struck into the "Star Spangled Banner," the lights went off and a row of candles.

THREAT TO INSURGENT GROUP

Demands Republican Majority in Congress to Aid Coolidge Policies

Convention Hall, Cleveland, June 10 (I.N.S.)—Pointing backward with a prideful finger at Republican accomplishments during the past four years and peering ahead with a promise of further constructive administration if President Coolidge is given the necessary working majority in Congress, Representative Theodore E. Burton formally opened the Republican national convention and uttered a significant warning to Republicans that there was no room in this country for a third party.

The speech of Representative Burton did more than merely open the convention. It set the tone of the familiar color and panoply of great political gatherings.

He pointed out that the Republican party had been the only party to survive the test of time. He pointed out that the Republican party had been the only party to survive the test of time.

known as "Property 1," which was prepared by Dean Pound, who in the natural course of events would have examined and marked them in July.

LASTED FOUR HOURS.

The examination lasted four hours and the papers were sent to Dean Pound, who in the natural course of events would have examined and marked them in July.

Some of the questions follow: "Traver by a sheriff (C) against a constable (C). The evidence was E and C each had attachments against X. X had a number of wagons on a vacant lot. At mid night E went to the vacant lot with a lantern. Found no one there. He declared that he levied on the property counted the wagons, looked at each one and took down the names of the maker and the number of each, and went across the road to make an inventory."

"While he was engaged C came with two helpers declared that he levied on the property, and removed the wagons to another place, where he put one of the helpers in charge. For whom should there be judgment?"

REPLEVIN TEST.

"A statute provides that the keeper of a boarding house shall effects of any lodger and boarder the same as an innkeeper. A rental typewriter to Y, and Y takes it to his room in a boarding house kept by X and keeps it there in his room for a month, using it in his business as a public stenographer."

"There is a plate on the machine with the following legend: 'Property of A—rented only, not sold.' Y's board bill being unpaid, X takes the typewriter out of Y's room and puts it in X's office stating that he intended to hold it until the bill is paid. In reply Y to A against X what judgment?"

"A executor and delivers to A a deed of bargain and sale of Black A to E and his heirs to the use of C for life, and on C's death, to the use of E."

DEMAND CHARGE PENALTY.

"If a vendor has then death is called on this charge, the State will immediately take trial on the murder charge, with the charge of grand jury."

Detectives Go to Michigan on Leopold-Saint Test

Chicago, June 10.—Two detectives left here today for Ann Arbor, Mich., to take depositions from the sister of Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb, confessed murderers of Robert Frank.

Leopold and Loeb attended the University of Michigan until the Christmas holidays last year, and depositions will be taken from their fellow students by the detectives. They will seek also to trace the typewriter which Leopold confessed he wrote the letter designed to extort $10,000 from Jack Frank, millionaire father of the slain boy.

Any effort to win the sympathy of a jury with the abandonment of a sharp defense to gain life sentences for Leopold and Loeb will be countered by a request that the case be not proceed, and a move for new indictments, Crow added.

Statements tending to establish the facts as to which of the two youths actually killed Robert Frank have been obtained by the State attorney's office.

Vivian Frame's Romance Is Made Known to Family and Mates on Eve of Graduation

Brockton, June 10.—Virtually on the eve of her graduation from Brockton High School, classmates of pretty Miss Vivian H. Frame learned for the first time in reality Mrs. Franklin L. Finley.

The proud display of a gold wedding band and the impatience of the young couple to wait until after graduation to arrange for the formal wedding of their "love nest" was responsible for the revelation of the secret wedding.

Then, blushing, the young bride confessed that last January, she and Franklin L. Finley, journeyed to Boston, established temporary residence there, obtained a marriage license, and were married.

Since then, no one knew even the closest relative of the couple—except their secret, until their desire to prepare their furnishings for their apartment forced them to tell Mrs. Finley will be graduated from high school this week. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Frame of Oak street, and is sixteen years old. Her husband is twenty-one and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur D. Finley of Herd street.

In East Boston court today Pansy told Judge Charles J. Brown the gun was only a prop. Irene asked if she had anything to say, shuddered violently, declared she did not love Pansy's cousin, and was asked of him.

"Six months," said the judge.

'Delightful!' Says Tech Marvel as Hub Girl Gives Him First Kiss

W. K. FLAVIN, JESSICA HENDERSON
Boston newspaper woman gives "unkissed marvel" of Tech senior class his first thrill in ecstacy. He was a receptive mood after declared the experience quite delightful. The young woman, however, expresses the opinion that Flavin as a kisser is a wonderful mathematician.

By JESSICA D. HENDERSON
Well, there's not a single unkissed senior at M. I. T. now. Yesterday there was one, by his own confession.

W. King Flavin, the merest of Tech senior class, openly boasted that in all of his 22 years on this planet feminine lips had not touched his. He is a marvel no more. He kissed me.

LACKED FORCE.
I don't want to discourage W. King at all, but it was a terrible kiss.

He says he has been devoted to mathematics and dynamics during the past four years.

I believe the first part, but I am here to say that there was nothing very dynamic about his kissing.

It was a sort of mathematical kiss. There is no personality in such a kiss.

As a kisser W. King is a wonderful mathematician—that is in my opinion.

HOPE IN FUTURE.
But the young man confined to me that he went to college for hard work and study and has not given even one minute to the subject of ecstacy, so there may be some hope in the future.

"How tell me just what do you think of kissing?" I asked him. "I really have not had the time to go in for this sort of thing at college, you know, so have had to eliminate it. I figured there were only four years in which to do my studying. If I am lucky, I will have about fifty more to live in all the kissing that is necessary."

FINDS IT DELIGHTFUL.
"You know kissing is really delightful after all, but I guess I will survive. I have thought about kisses in the past, to admit the truth. And I want to say that a kiss is just what I expected it would be—delightful. I realize that I don't know much about how to do it yet, but I guess I will improve in time."

He made me goodbye and the next I heard he was whispering Ben Johnson's old song about leaving a kiss within the cup and he would not ask for wine.

KING GEORGE NEAR FALL FROM HORSE
Aldershot, Eng., June 10 (A.P.)—The horsemanship of King George III. was put to a severe test today when he fell from his horse while reviewing the troops, the horse became frightened at the cheering crowd. The animal bucked and nearly collided with the horse ridden by the aged duke of Cornwall, beside the Queen's carriage.

The King made a second attempt to force his horse to accompany the procession, but the animal plunged until its royal rider was forced to turn back and ride home along a quiet route.

ARMED BANDITS GET $3000 IN PROVIDENCE

Masked Robbers Fell Gas Station Owner With Pistol and Escape in an Auto

Providence, June 10.—Three masked men, armed with revolvers, held up El Harrison, proprietor of the Keystone gas station, No. 202 Kinross street, today, and escaped with $3,000 in loot.

Harrison was stunned by a blow from a revolver held by one of the three men. Then, while the other two rifled his pockets, stripped his fingers of rings and collected articles on his desk, the bandits went outside and started an automobile.

The loot included $1,500 in postal savings stamps, $15 in cash, a watch, gold pen, rings, police whistle, pocket knife, a demand note and other articles.

Harrison furnished the police with a partial description of his assailants.

Worcester Eats Its Peck of Dirt Via Water Mains

Worcester, June 10.—In child hood we were told it is the job of everyone to eat a peck of dirt before he dies.

They over-subscribed their quota in Worcester yesterday and today—the only difference being that the peck was drunk rather than eaten.

Nothing but muddy water is coming from faucets in homes served by the service mains. Water Commissioner George W. Balthazard received so many complaints that he ordered the city engineers to investigate.

It developed that the wind has stirred up strange currents that in turn have churned up the mud. The muddy water is expected to remain muddy for several days.

CHAIN STORES CUT PRICE OF MILK TO 8C.

Heavy Production Is Given as Reason; Big Dealers Keep Rate at 10½ to 12½

The price of milk in chain stores throughout Greater Boston was down to eight cents a quart today. It hasn't been since the war.

The cut from nine to eight cents was inaugurated by a chain store company, which brought about a reduction last year. The action of this company was followed by the other main stores.

"We are obligated to take the cut, just of 250 dairies," said a dealer. "Their production is quite heavy. If we do not take it we have to throw it away. So we believe in giving it to the people. The price of eight cents, as low as it has been for many years, will continue as long as the production is heavy."

The prices of the large dealers remain unchanged, at 10½ to 12½ cents a quart, with no cut contemplated.

Chicago, June 10.—While perched secrets of school children and their shouted conversations as well, cause serious epidemics, Dr. W. F. Rousner, assistant commissioner of public health in Minneapolis, declared today at the annual meeting of the American Medical Association.

Parents should teach their children at an early age to avoid the breath of others, he said.

A mysterious fire in one of two old car barns at Washington street and West Roxbury parkway, set the police on a hunt for a firebug today.

Damage of $2,000 was caused to this one-story building, which is closed and unoccupied.

Several weeks ago, the older structure, standing only twenty feet away, and used to store automobiles, was swept by a flame, just as mysterious and nearly three-score automobiles were destroyed. Police believed both fires to be the work of some person with incendiary tendencies.

BONUS BLANKS TO COME; SOLDIERS' FRIEND TO BE

By THE SOLDIERS' FRIEND.

Until otherwise advised the Soldiers' Friend Bureau of the Boston American and the Boston Advertiser will continue its activities on the assumption that official Washington will find a way to carry on with the Adjusted Compensation, or "bonus," law.

Every bonus question asked by former service men in the Army, the Navy or the Marine Corps will be answered by the Soldiers' Friend with all possible dispatch.

Late advice from Washington are to the effect that officials feel certain a way will be found to get the legislative business of a young army of make good use of the time until Congress returns in December.

POLITICS TO HANG. The present mix-up is the result of the hurry to get away from Washington in time for the Republican and the Democratic national convention.

One of the things that fell by the wayside on the last day of the session was the Expediency Appropriation bill.

In that bill was a bonus appropriation of $122,000,000. In order to proceed with plans for the present year $20,000,000 of this amount was required immediately. The bonus provision of the Veterans' Bureau, for example, will need $12,000,000 this year for the purchase of supplies and the employment of a young army of clerks.

Anyone who served in the World War, in any capacity, and who wants to know how the bonus law affects him, or who later on will want assistance in filling out his application blank, is invited to make use of the Soldiers' Friend Bureau of the Boston American in Boston, at 100 Summer Street.

No charge for this service.

Following are the Soldiers' Friend's replies to some recent inquiries.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED.

Q.—Please let me know when you are entitled to the bonus, and how to get a little information about the new bonus.

A.—If your son is living he should make application in person and give the information called for from memory and to the best of his ability. If your son has died and left no unmarred widow or children under 18 years of age, you may apply for the bonus. If you were dependent upon your son for support at the time of his death, we shall be glad to assist you personally in the preparation of an application as soon as blanks are available.

Q.—I was in the service from May 14, 1917, until July 12, 1918, with almost two years of overseas service. What amount will I get under the bonus law? I was married and have since been divorced and have no son three years of age, and I would like to know if my wife could go up and claim the bonus for me?

A.—Undoubtedly from your long service record you will be entitled to the maximum benefits of the bonus act. Your wife cannot claim anything under this law, but you are at liberty to name as your beneficiary anybody whom you see fit to choose. You could name your son beneficiary in preference to your wife.

Q.—I was in the army a total of 41 days, with 145 days of France, and I would like to know the amount which I am entitled to receive. Can I get any benefit from the bonus now, or shall I have to wait twenty years for it?

A.—The bonus blanks are not issued at present, but will be issued shortly. If you will follow the columns of the Boston American and Boston Advertiser, you will be able to make application for the bonus. From your length of service you undoubtedly will be entitled to the maximum amount of bonus.

Q.—I was a former Yeoman (P) and was in the service from April 15, 1917, to July 13, 1918. Am I entitled to the bonus and about how much will it be?

A.—The bonus law makes no exception in the case of Yeoman (P). They will be treated equally with other veterans and you will be entitled to make application for the bonus. From your length of service you doubt you will be entitled to the maximum amount provided by the law.

Specialists Listen Simultaneously to Pulsations by Means of a Giant Stethophones

Chicago, June 10.—More than 700 heart specialists, among the fifteen thousand physicians attending the twenty-fifth annual convention of the American Medical Association, met simultaneously today to the pulsation of a heart.

The demonstration, made possible through the use of a giant stethophone, was a feature of the convention. It was asserted that the new instrument would permit medical students to acquire in three days technical knowledge previously acquired in three months.

After inauguration of Dr. William Allen Pusey, Chicago dermatologist, as president for the coming year, various resolutions are to be presented in the convention, among them one asking that the pure food and drug act be extended to include rouge, face powder and all cosmetics and beautifying elements.

Dr. Theobald, told of the institution of a class in eulogism in the women's college of which she is physician in charge. Eulogism, she said, is a kind of word, and means "the art of right living." She asserted the courses would be a feature of future education of young women.

AT HALF PRICE
Hand Woven Table Linens
The Opportunity of a Lifetime

From far-away Freiwaldau (formerly in Austria, now in Czechoslovakia) come rare table linens, woven by hand in mountain cottages of Silesia. These choice damasks were bleached on the grass in the sun—no chemical has ever marred their velvet-like softness.

A limited number of fine pieces, just received under unusual conditions, are now offered at the price of inferior grades. Treasures that may be handed down from generation to generation—at the price of ordinary table linens!

Only by seeing them can you appreciate the charm of design, the satiny exquisiteness of texture; only by comparing them with other goods of the same price can you really comprehend the values they represent—priced at barely half what they are worth.

There are six qualities in a variety of magnificent designs. This is such a very unusual offering that we are giving all sizes and prices in detail.

COAKLEY IN 'HUN CLASS,' WROTE STEARNS

Also Wrote That the At He Breathed "Must Be Contaminated"

stead of paying it outright. This was a substantial concession as compared to what Coakley had insisted upon.

"The following agreement was tentatively arranged. 1.—A divorce on grounds of cruel and abusive treatment without publicity. 2.—Waiver of my property in trust for Mrs. Stearns and her daughter, for the use of the income and the principal to revert to you and your heirs.

"It was agreed that we were willing to make a reasonable payment for Coakley's fee. Stearns was to determine what was a reasonable amount after a conference with prominent lawyers.

"WORTHY CHEAP."

"If we can tie up your money in trust, a couple of thousands to Coakley would be a mighty cheap price to pay for the privilege.

"Stearns says Mrs. Stearns can do as she says, which is not particularly agreeable to Coakley, of course. Coakley will be mad when he finds that Stearns has stepped in to upset his fee. Someone was needed who was strong enough to control the lady and direct her into paths of sanity."

"To another letter, written to Attorney Fuller just after he had received a long telegram from Stearns, Stearns wrote:

"I have had such a crazy letter from John H. Stearns. He seems very excited. Personally I think the honorable John is not quite right. I think the heat has affected his head. He is a mutual friend of Mrs. Stearns and myself and the father of Bob Stearns, of football fame."

"The more I think of Mr. S. the more angry I am. In the money settlement I want that she may be comfortable and not a cent more."

OFFERED TO HELP.

In a letter sent to Fuller August 12, 1918, Stearns wrote that he had perfect confidence in Fuller's judgment. He said Stearns was a fine man "who has no respect for the Coakley type." He said he hoped General Weaver (now a federal law) and his daughter, Persis, might be saved from publicity, but that he did not care about himself. He suggested General Weaver as guardian for Persis, who was eighteen.

In making further reference to Coakley, Stearns wrote: "He is quite in the Hun class. If I can be of any service to the Bar Association I am willing to give any testimony that you desire."

On August 31, 1919, Fuller wrote: "Am having trouble with Stearns. Kindly sign enclosed bill to use in the event that he gets bad. Also send me date and place of your marriage so I can fill it in."

On September 2, 1919, Stearns wrote to Fuller that he was married in St. Paul's Cathedral, Boston, on April 27, 1919, by the Rev. Dr. Windsor. He said that either the officiating clergyman or the best man lost the license and that his wife's maiden name was Helen Gibson Weaver.

"MR. GALAHAD."

Stearns said President Sanderson of the Waltham Trust Company could handle Stearns. The letter further stated: "Personally, I do not want to see Mrs. S. again. I intend that the trust terminate if she marries again as I do not want to support Persis or anybody else who is Mrs. Stearns' first husband."

"I regret that she allows Persis to run around the country with youngsters to Camp Devens and elsewhere. I am fed up on Persis Stearns. I would like to be transferred to the infantry."

Another letter from Fuller, dated September 4, 1919, stated that Mrs. Stearns wrote to Stearns on October 17, 1917: "You have probably by this time received the divorce libel on grounds of cruel and abusive treatment and non-support. We hope to have it come up in the November session because the judge is one whom Mr. Herbert Parker thinks will be amenable to the system of amicus curiae, under which Mr. Parker is going to act in advance of the court that the disposition of this matter in the agreed form is proper and advisable."

"If news of this divorce libel on these grounds is noised about in Waltham it cannot help creating amusement among your friends who really understand the situation. As for the rumors circulated by the other side the action on these grounds will look like a diet of croquet for the libellant."

Stearns wrote Fuller on November 19, 1919, before the case had come up in court:

"I hear from Waltham that Mrs. Stearns has informed people that she has got a divorce. A Mrs. McGinnis says that Mrs. Stearns told her I was too rotten to live with and so she divorced me."

After the divorce had been granted Stearns wrote: "It came out just about as well as I expected, with a man like Coakley in it. I never believed he would live up to any agreement he made."

WIFE GOT HALF.

Fuller then wrote to Stearns an outline of the financial settlement. The letter showed that Stearns' father left an estate of $126,000 of which Stearns' share was $63,000. Stearns' property totaled $75,000 and it was half of this amount which was to be divided between his wife and daughter, his wife getting about $20,000 in trust.

HAM SANDWICH NEARLY WRECKS A FAMILY

Providence Fontenellas, Back From Italy, Lost in New York When Wife Becomes Hungry

Providence, June 10.—The Bartholomew Fontenellas have returned to their town house after a trip to Italy, with an itinerary that included Genoa, other Mediterranean ports and hysteresis. This is not a society note.

It was in New York that Bartholomew Fontenellas had the hysterics—$100 worth, which represents the total family bankroll. And it came about because Mrs. Fontenellas pulled that old one about being hungry.

The Fontenellas collaborate in a Providence chicken farm. For thirty years the chicken business, rolled up a bankroll for them, until the year of 1923 they figured things up and found they had enough to go back and visit the old country.

They visited and they returned. The boat landed them in New York with $100 remaining free and clear. Then Mrs. Fontenellas discovered that she was hungry. Fontenellas said he would get her a ham sandwich. She gave him eight minutes and then became hysterical, running up one street and down another, shouting that he was lost—until she had lost herself.

A policeman placed her on a train for Providence. Meanwhile Fontenellas returned with the sandwich to find his wife and the $100 missing. Then he became hysterical. The police recalled that they had sent his wife home. So they sent him home too. Now everything is all right.

Correspondence Over Hub Pantheon Gift Filed for Safety

Portland, Me., June 10.—One of several bound copies of all correspondence between Governor Percival P. Baxter and the city of Boston has been placed with City Manager Brinkbeoff for safe keeping. The late James P. Baxter bequeathed to the city of Boston $50,000 for the purpose of erecting a New England pantheon in Boston in the year 1925.

The money is to be invested and, if possible, with added funds from other States, to realize a sum sufficient for needs of that time. The first installment of $5,000 has already been paid, and like amounts will follow at stated intervals. Governor Baxter is executor of his father's estate.

The detectives said they found a German pistol in Terada's apartment.

Terada, the detective added, is the second husband of his American wife. She is about forty, and before coming to New York taught a Japanese Sunday school in Boston. She appears to be cultured.

She has a twelve-year-old son by her first husband and a two-month-old girl by her second marriage.

The arrest of Terada followed complaint by neighbors that many Japanese visited Terada's apartment daily. O'Connell and Brown watched the place for two weeks before arrest. Terada said he was graduated from a medical college at Osaka, Japan, took a post graduate course at Belvoir Medical College and went thence to Johns Hopkins Medical College.

MEN!

there's kick in it

You fellows who don't know all about soap have something to learn—

Once over with my kind of soap and hands are cleaner than after two or three washes with the ordinary kind.

Try it. Then you'll know. Your hands will show it—convincingly clean to the eye, to the sense of feel.

A LIFEBOUQ bath, all over, multiplies that refreshing, tingling exhilaration as many times as your body is bigger than your hands.

And after a LIFEBOUQ tub-work, exercise, dance—no matter how hot the weather, how hot you get, you're clean hot—never unpleasantly so to others.

You can't satisfy LIFEBOUQ users with any other soap. Ask them. Absolute, definite, satisfying cleanness is what a man has a right to expect from soap. Cleanness that makes the skin and body glow with health.

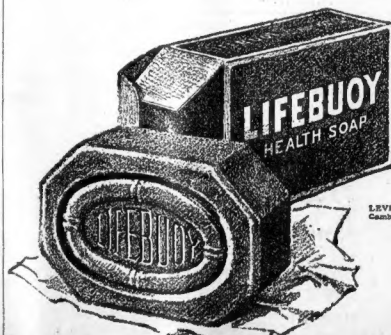

Take the big red LIFEBOUQ cake in your hands and wash. Then you'll have a conviction about soap.

A Lifebuoy User

The HEALTH DOCTOR Says:

The first rule of radiant health is cleanliness. Baths often. There's nothing so good for the skin as the creamy, antiseptic lather of Lifebuoy. You will find its clean smell, quickly vanishing.

YOU know Lifebuoy by its orange-red color, the color of one of its principal ingredients, pure palm fruit oil.

BURTON WANTS OF MESSAGE IN THIRD PARTY

Keynote Speech Also Demands
G. O. P. Majority in

Lengthy review of the party's record in Washington.

"This has been true of most of the countries in continental Europe for years. The effect is inevitably demoralizing, involving failure in our constructive policies and offenses controlled by a minority or minorities of either party. The whole theory of orderly and effective parliamentary government demands that the people divide into two parties on outstanding questions of current importance, thus forming political organizations based upon certain fundamental principles, while minor considerations are relegated to a secondary position.

WILL OF GROUPS.

"If we should tread the path which so many other countries have trod with disastrous results, democracy and confusion would be the outcome and there would be an erosion, not of the majority will, but of the will of groups and of sections.

"The word 'Republicanism' is not a mere name; it is not a label which anyone can wear. It is not a cloak for individual vagaries.

"The strength and usefulness of the Republican party must depend on the maintenance of enduring principles in the advocacy of which triumph can only be secured by party solidarity and an organization whose members unite in closed formation to do battle to every foe.

RESENTS THE BLOC.

"That was all. There was no direct reference to members of a third party presented by the LaFollette and allied insurgent groups within the party, but none of his hearers had any doubt as to what this particular portion of his keynote speech referred.

Further on he expressed the party's resentment of "vociferous minorities" and declared that "much of the blame that is visited upon Republicans in the present Congress is not deserved, because on many major questions their party has not commanded a majority in either branch.

"This was a pointed allusion to the balance of power held in the present Congress by LaFollette and his militant band of insurgents, and on more than one occasion demonstrated their ability to swing the tide either for or against the administration.

"We must not forget for a minute," Burton continued, "the importance of a Republican majority in the next Congress made up of members true and true who will stand united."

COOLIDGE TO LEAD.

The country, he said, looked to President Coolidge for leadership.

"With some disappointment as one whose public service has been in a legislative position, truth compels me to say," Burton declared, "that by far the greater share of our citizenship looks to President Coolidge rather than to Congress for leadership."

"As a candidate for the presidency at this time in the midst of temporary setbacks, stronger than those by which the agonies fell, he has shown no trucking, no scheming, no backbiting, but has come calmly and steadily on his way unaffected by the juncos of expediency or the promise of success."

Even while denouncing some of the acts of the present administration, Burton declared that on the whole the record of Republican administration during the past four years presents an achievement all too unparalleled in history.

DETROIT WOMAN RECOVERS

Health Much Better After Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Detroit, Michigan.—"Your little book left at my door was my best doctor. I read it, then I said to my husband, 'Let's go and get me some Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, I want to take it.' The first month I took three bottles of Vegetable Compound and one of Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine, and used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sensitive Wash. I can only know how much better I feel. Now when my friends say they are sick, I tell them to take Lydia E. Pinkham's medicines. I give the little book to any young ladies who are constantly publishing letters from women, who explain how they were cured by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

These letters should guide you. If you are troubled with pain and nervousness, or any feminine disorder, be sure to read the little book. The Vegetable Compound has helped other women and should help you. For sale at drug stores everywhere.

A recent canvass reports 98 out of every 100 women are benefited by LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND.

Bishop Anderson Prays for Law and Peace

CLEVELAND, June 10.—Bishop William F. Anderson, of the Methodist Episcopal Church, recently of Cincinnati, but now of Boston, said the prayer today at the opening of the convention:

"We ask that all of our people may have due apprehension of the necessity of stricter observance of law and the preservation of the Constitution of the United States. Do Thou effectually stay the evil designs of any desecrating hand or agency which would seek by any means to overthrow the 'Ark of the Covenant' of our purchased liberties.

"We pray for the help of Thy restraining grace against all forms of injustice, oppression and wrong-doing. By Thy divine favor may we have contentment, happiness, peace, prosperity and brotherhood within our own borders.

"And do Thou inspire us with that moral courage which shall enable us to accept our trusteeship as a nation for world weal and welfare. By Thy good guidance may our Republic find its way to definite and aggressive leadership in the interests of universal good-will and world peace."

For Republican administration he closed the following:

Prosperity after a period of business and economic depression which followed the war.

Peace with all the world. "The Democrats could not make peace," he said. "The Republicans did."

The arms conference which limited the world's armaments, established peace in the Pacific and insured an open door in China.

The budget law and economy in government which he said has saved the nation hundreds of millions of dollars.

A tariff law which he claimed has protected industry and added hundreds of millions in revenue to the treasury.

Abolition of the twelve-hour weekly day by President Harding.

Passage of a foreign debt funding law which has already successfully insured the protection of nearly half the billions loaned to Europe during the war.

An immigration policy that will protect future generations and at the same time prevent a steady influx of the destitute from the world.

The Dawes plan for settlement of the controversial reparations problem which he declared now laid fair to accomplish the highly desirable result of stabilizing Europe.

JAP EXCLUSION.

Continuing he said in part:

"It is to be expected that in the passage of the recent bill the request of the President for time for further negotiations with Japan was refused. The adoption of policies for the exclusion of Japanese immigrants by no means implies any claim of their inferiority, but rests upon essential differences, notably in standards of living, which render them incongruous to our industrial life."

"The Republican Party stands now as always firmly for law enforcement. Laws are not to be observed merely by those who favor their enactment but by everyone in this broad land. Disregard of existing enactments breeds disorder and anarchy."

"Let me earnestly recommend participation in the League of Nations, functioning at The Hague. The League of Nations is not a mere action of the representatives of the respective members, but the League of Nations is a real thing, the chancelleries at home, the Court, on the other hand, judicial, and the august judges receive dictation from no one."

SOUND AT HEART.

"Speaking for all good and thoughtful citizens of every political creed, I must enter a solemn protest against the impression, recently created, that there is widespread corruption in the government at Washington."

"It is true that out of all this direction, there have been exposed the selfishness and dishonesty on the part of public officials, and of course that oversteering on the part of those who are ready to use their opportunities to denounce those in office."

"But the heart of the American people is sound, and the influence that accompany and follow every war will pass away."

CONVENTION OFF GIVE WELL OILED MACHINE

Gets Under Way in Hall That

was stood over the gall. From the back of the stage with multicolored lights playing on it, dropped another huge American flag.

There was a round of applause as the band finished and the lights went up again.

Then, with John Philip Sousa, the famous bandmaster, leading, the band played "The Stars and Stripes Forever," while arrangements and other superlatives greeted both and you getting the stage set for the formal picture.

The floor presented a busy picture with delegates milling around finding their seats and shaking hands with friends and acquaintances.

It was more like old home week than a political convention. Secretary of the Treasury Mellon was the center of a little throng and in the space of a few minutes probably shook more hands than he does in a week in Washington.

RECORD PRAYER.

The gavel fell again, and Adams introduced to the gathering the Rt. Rev. William T. Anderson of the Methodist Episcopal Church, who delivered one of the longest prayers and ever opened a national convention.

Then more music, under the leadership of a young master, an innovation introduced four years ago by Will H. Hays, the convention stood and sang "America."

A lot of delegates occupied with the taking of the convention photographs.

The flashlight exploded with the proportions of a French 75. The party was so large that an effort of powder had to be used to get the picture.

Just 11:28 when Adams finally sat down again and presented the party to George H. Lockwood, secretary of the national committee, who read the official call just to make everything local and irrad-

ADAMS FORGIVEN.

Lockwood then mentioned the business of the convention really began.

Adams spoke briefly in welcome and announced the program.

The crowd listened with scattering applause until he reminded them they were here to "nominate the next President of the United States" and then there was a real will.

Adams nominated Representative Theodore E. Burton, Ohio, to be temporary chairman, and there was another yell. He appointed a committee of three, Senator Peter Norbeck, South Dakota, Mrs. Caroline of Indiana, and A. T. Roberts of Michigan to escort Burton to the chair.

Then, as an afterthought, he called for a vote on whether Burton was to be the choice. It was given with a roar and Adams retired blushing over his mistake in appointing the committee before the delegates had signified their ratification of the choice of Burton as temporary chairman.

NOT FAULT OF RADIO.

Burton moved about a bit during delivery of his speech and at some times got away from the microphone which was carrying out by radio to many millions of listeners the proceedings of the convention. If any body missed some of the things, it was not the fault of static. It was Burton.

There was applause when he referred to the participation of women in the convention, but it seemed to come principally from the men.

It was again speaking at 11:27. It was to be a long speech and the delegates settled back in their seats. They listened with comparative silence to the earlier part. Even the eulogy of President Harding failed to elicit more than scattered applause.

The first prolonged cheering and applause came when he declared "the Republican party stands now as always for law enforcement."

Dramatic Scene in "The Guilty One" at Fenway Theatre

Believe it or not, there is more genuine, heart thumping authority in a Guilty One than anything we have found in the theatre since David Warfield choked us into submission with "The Misses Myster".

Pinet, expressed emotion—dry, hard and penetrating—found rare joy in an abiding faith in the Guilty One. The play is a full length, in good metro-politan fashion.

As an addition to Miss Cowie's repertoire of plays for the intelligent audience, the Fenway Theatre will be expected to raise a full crop of "Guilty One" and a number of "The Misses Myster".

The President Invites Defeat With His World Court Policy

Mr. Coolidge seems to fear he may be elected, else he would not advocate a League of Nations World Court, after being elected Vice-President on a pledge to keep away from that League of Nations.

If Republicans and Democrats feel we married Europe when we entered the World War and abandoned the fair bride after the armistice and now should pay alimony the rest of our lives, the friends of Common Sense will form a Western Hemisphere Party and put all these remorse-stricken husbands where they will be harmless!

Had Mr. Coolidge unfurled his European banner at Chicago in 1920 his opinions now would not be so important; he would be practicing law at Northampton, or possibly Boston, for Governors usually practice at the State Capital after their terms expire.

IT MAY BE DEMOCRATICALLY FRANK, BUT THE OBLIGATION OF GOOD FAITH IS BINDING ON PRESIDENTS AS WELL AS ON PLAIN MEN!

Democrats can be consistently non compos mentis internationally, but Republicans can't; they promised to keep out of Europe!

Democrats can hold Europe's hand, pay for doing her washing, trim her bunions and manure her nails, pay the clothes when she has broke or massage the small of her back when she has lumbago.

Democrats may even searom her fetlocks and braid her mane and tail, if still in a hostlering frame of mind!

THEIR WATERLOO PLATFORM OF 1920 SAID THE UNITED STATES was good only for such things; that's why it took the rescuers six weeks to dig Cox out from under that seven million landslide.

BUT IF REPUBLICANS DO ANY OF THESE THINGS, THEY OBTAINED AN ADMINISTRATION UNDER FALSE PRETENSES!

If Mr. Coolidge thinks he must use this World Court idea because he inherited it, he is mistaken. A man doesn't have to use a ticket to the bone yard just because somebody hands him one!

Mr. Coolidge inherited enough without this; in fact, no President ever was more beautifully remembered than Mr. Coolidge when he inherited Mr. Harding's Cabinet!

If the Administration thinks this League of Nations darling will make anybody forget Teapot Dome, it is en route from the frypan to the fire. Better declare for rheumatism, boll weevil or gall stones; these are not only more popular, but better statesmanship than this plan to mix America's fresh eggs with Europe's stale omelet!

If, however, the Administration feels that after Teapot Dome, there is nothing left but political suicide, it is to be congratulated on its determination to make it swift and sure!

If the President desires to know what the American people really think before his term expires, he should leave the District of Columbia and make one speech where it doesn't cost to hear him.

It's no use to speak at a banquet where plates are fifty dollars apiece; he might as well, so far as reaching the people is concerned, walk over to the Smithsonian Institute and address a stuffed ostrich!

The President has an international banking environment; he has Secretary Hughes confounded with Uncle Sam, when the only resemblance between them is whiskers!

And even this resemblance vanishes at first sight, for while Uncle Sam has American whiskers, Secretary Hughes has Picaresque whiskers!

A man whose whiskers are a grand ensemble might lead a President right, but a man who parts his whiskers will lead any President to destruction!

It is hard to understand why Mr. Coolidge should envy Mr. Cox the race he must four years ago; it is hard to understand why anybody should hilariously plan a 1924 Joy Ride in a 1920 hearse, but if Republicans and Democrats must—they must!

BUT THEY CAN'T TAKE THE AMERICAN PEOPLE ALONG; THEY WOULDN'T GO BEFORE AND THEY WON'T GO NOW!

AND IF THIS EUROPEAN AID SOCIETY GOES, THE AMERICAN PEOPLE WILL STAY HOME, FORM A THIRD PARTY AND NAIL DOWN THE UNITED STATES!

"Flats and Flivvers"

Be Grateful for Both

Thomas R. Marshall, once Vice-President, says "The trouble with America is too many preachers legislating and too few legislators praying."

What's your definition of our trouble?

"Flats and flivvers" in place of old-fashioned "homes" annoy Mr. Marshall. If a turtle saw a wren caught in the air by a hawk it would say, pulling in its head, "If that wren hadn't wings it wouldn't have been killed." But a wren without wings or a modern home without a car would be a poor thing, Mr. Marshall. The car is ANOTHER home, ON WHEELS. It gives outdoor freedom to all the family, and especially to the very young and the old.

As for the "flat" that Mr. Marshall couples with the "flivver," what would our so-called civilization be without it? It alone makes possible modern city life and industry, and they are necessary steps in our progress. We'll leave them behind some day, when "industrial slavery" is changed into attractive industry. Then human beings will live in co-operative palaces on hill tops and mountain tops, flying to and from their daily tasks—about two hours' work each.

But that's some distance off. Meanwhile, be grateful for the flat with its bathtub and running water. Thank heaven for the automobile and the four wheels that conquer gravity. And pray for the benevolent genius that will invent and supply the cheap city garage that EVERY flat may have its driver.
